1) Did you enjoy the program?

- Yes, we enjoyed all seminars and free time activities. Everything was well-planned.

- It was dense, it was tiring, but yes, we enjoyed the program and we left full of impressions and ideas.

2) What do you think of the Portuguese organization?

- Everything was super. We had no transport issues and we knew always, where and when we have to be.
- Very good
- The organisation was very good and well planned.
- It was good
- It was good. Everything was good.
- The school we visited – Escola Secundaria de Albufeira – and which hosted part of the activities of the project, was impressive from every point of view: the buildings (of which the gym filled us all with admiration and envy!) - well maintained, clean, bright, nicely furnished, each with its clear purpose; the generous green space around; the students – communicative and friendly, obviously enjoying being at school; the teachers – supportive and committed; the board of directors – a solid team in full control. The five-day program of the project meeting was minutely designed, so as to comprise varied activities and make perfect use of time.

3) Did you like the cultural activities?

- Yes, we liked the cultural activities as well. Zoomarine and museum in Faro were our cup of tea.
- Yes
- Yes, we liked all the cultural activities
- Yes
- Yes I liked.
- Our whole stay in Albufeira was a plunge in a new cultural environment, and we absorbed as much as we could: architecture

(the dazzlingly white houses, with their unique chimneys; the old castle in Faro with its splendid view from the top of the towers), the cobbled streets going up and down, the luxurious vegetation, so different from what we are used to back home; food itself, of course (that picturesque "Naninhas" where they kept bringing huge plates full of fish long after everybody was full). A special mention for the Ethnographic Museum in Faro, with its captivating guide! Zoomarine, on the last day, was also a unique treat...

4) Was the visit to the mini enterprise useful and interesting?

- Yes, it was. It was insterering to see and taste different herbs and get to know, how does production look like in Portugal mini enterprise.
- Of course!
- For us it was interesting and useful.
- Yes it was
- Yes it was.
- Quinta do Mel was an astounding experience. For us, it is a role-model of how high you can reach if you are intelligent, inventive, enterprising, persistent and committed. A great family, a fabulous team.

The market in Loulé was another rare experience, a perfect example of prosperous mini-enterprises providing the community with authentic, healthy, home-made products.

5) Did you enjoy the food?

- Yes, we did. It was very enjoyable to eat different seafood. Our stomach was full of all the best Portuguese food. Thank you for that!

Thanks for the vegetarian food and all the specialities

- Yes i did. Foods were Delicious.
- Oh, yes, every bit of it! And we were offered a-plenty! I equally loved the Naninhas restaurant, so simple, so colourful, and the refined meal at the farewell dinner at Alisios Hotel. Contrasts underline one another!

6) Did you like the accommodations?

- The Hotel was well and the breakfast had a great selection

7) Was there enough communication and information before the meeting?

- Yes it was.
- We were sent the full program way before arriving there. Everybody also knew what they had to prepare for the activities.

Suggestions for the host partners in the future:

The host partners have proved vast organisational experience, so that, try as I may, I cannot think of any suggestions, and I wouldn't change anything in the way the program was carried on.

What I would like to add - and I couldn't find a place in the evaluation form to do it, so I'll do it here – is how especially interesting, well designed and captivating I found two of the seminars we attended: "Didactic aspects of ICT in the reality of digital natives", and "Intercultural dialogue". Of the latter, we have already used one of the materials in class!
