

ZERO DISCRIMINATION MANIFESTO

We have a dream of a world where everyone has the same rights. We live in a world where the people are judged and mistreated for their skin colour, sexuality, religion, language, political ideology and more. We want to improve that for everyone to be the same, and at the same time celebrate our differences: to be treated equally even if we don't have the same ideas.

In almost every country, the economy is more important than people's rights, this needs to stop. One of the big problems of the world is education, we remind ourselves that there are kids in other countries who are forced to work (child labour) when they should be at school! They are not treated well and that must change. Moreover, 10 years old girls are forced to marry old men and obligated to have children even if it is dangerous for them.

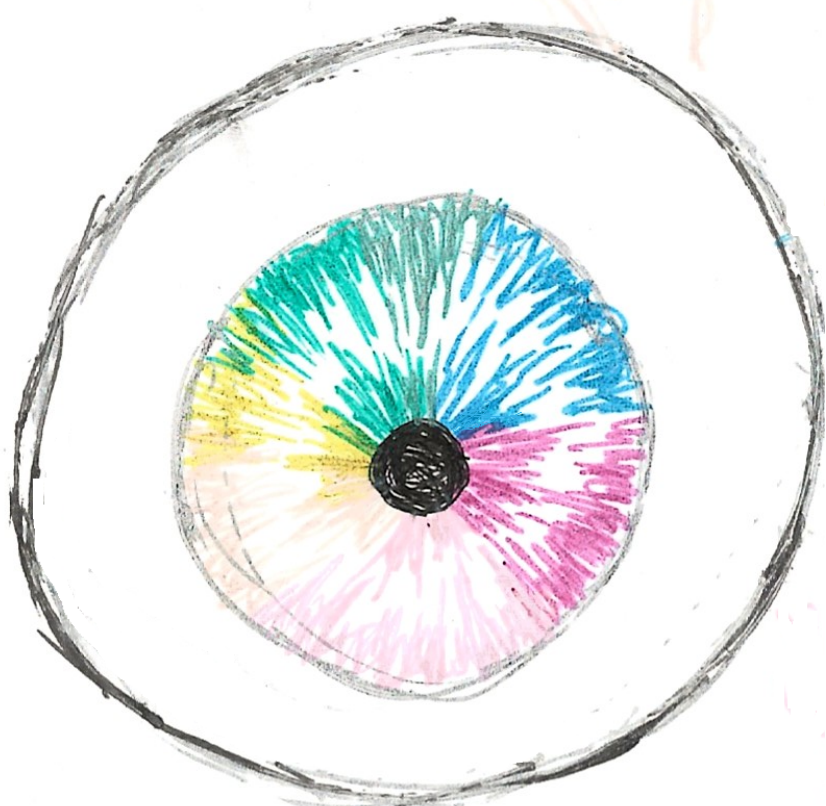

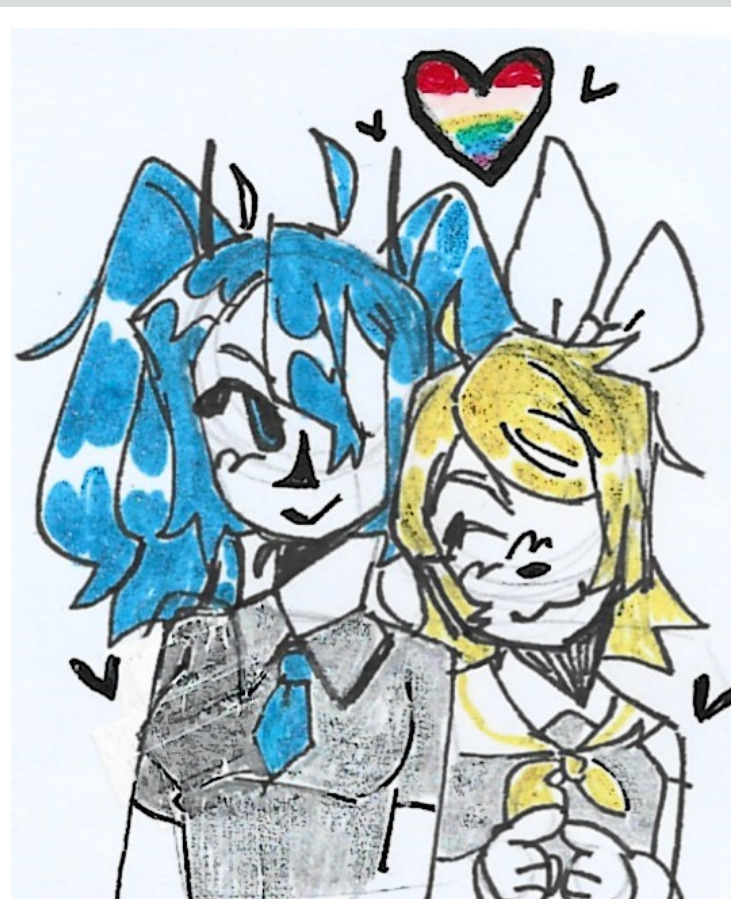

We remind ourselves of Women's Rights as most women aren't paid the same as men even if they work more than them. There is still a huge gap in Health care, as in many countries there is still a huge difference on how people are treated due to their skin colour, sexual orientations, and more.

We need to change, we want that everyone has equal rights, that there is no shaming because of their body or skin, that there are no differences between men and women, that we all have an opportunity to learn what we want, to accept all religions and live in peace. We want to walk home at night feeling safe.

Big problems require small solutions and we believe that if we teach our generation significantly, our future will be better. Thus, we ask our schools for:

- More exchange programs for teenagers. So, we get to know other cultures and learn to accept them easily.
 - Secure internet chatrooms for people of different cultures, religions, sexual orientations and gender.
 - To create a subject that teaches us about equality and diversity where parents and teachers can attend as well. We want to learn about sexual education and how to respect each other.
 - To create volunteer programs to welcome new students and help those in need.

To conclude, we want this manifesto to spread the word around about the different types of diversity. We believe that through these actions we can teach people more about diversity and equality. We are humans, we all have equal rights that need to be respected.
