

Italian Part

People are deeper than Labels

People do not have to be labeled because even if we are all different from different cultures diversity enriches us.

People don't need to be classified for race, religion
or language.
A person always remains a person.

Italians have pasta,
French people have wine,
If we put a table cloth
we can combine

In your life you will sooner or later hate someone.
Hate him for his actions,
not for his appearance

People are like labels,
both are different among themselves, but in their diversity they are equal

My dream is not in the future but in the present, and its roots are in the past.
I live only to reach it.

Racism is the greatest threat of man to man,
the maximum of hatred
with the minimum of reason.

Show up your face,
It's not your race,
The race is one,
It's called HUMAN.
Don't put me a label,
I am a strange rebel,
Deep is not shallow,
It's difficult to swallow.
Superficiality is mean mentality.
The invisible lace,
That links me to my place,
Is part of my story,
Is part of my glory.
One common place,
Many different stories,
One only race,
Many different glories.
Show up your face,
It's not your race.
The race is one,
It's called HUMAN.