.IES CANTABRIA SANTANDER.

Lately some educational projects between different schools in Europe have started and one of the platforms which drive this trend is eTwinning.

One of the projects we want to talk about is I have a DREAM, where different schools from Poland, Spain, Austria, Italy, Greece, Czech Republic, Portugal and Turkey, between others, collaborate during this school year, 2021-2022.

We decided to bring here two students of 1st of Bachillerato from IES Cantabria of Santander, who are involved in the project, and ask them some questions.

To start, here is Claudia, one of the most committed students of the project.

-Which has been your favourite activity until now?

Well, I'm glad you're asking me that. My favourite activity was Meet the partners since we had to create our lockers with different things to present ourselves and look at other people's afterwards.

-Have you done any activity where you could talk to students from different countries? Yes, we've done some video calls with other people, even though the quality of the sound wasn't the best one and we didn't understand each other properly.

-What was your least favourite activity and why? The advent calendar because it consisted just in watching pictures.

-Do you think these kind of projects should be more common? Why? In my opinion, those projects should be more common, because they show us how to work in a more cooperative atmosphere and makes us go to school with another motivation apart from studying.

Thank you for your collaboration, Claudia.

The next student is Owen, who also participates in the project.

-How makes you feel having the opportunity of getting involved? I'm excited about getting involved with different countries and cultures and learn about them. The Philosophy teacher likes it a lot and makes us feel part of this awesome virtual adventure.

-Have you participated in any activity where you had to be creative? Yes, at the beginning of I have a DREAM we could create the logo. Actually, my logo didn't win but I had to be creative to make the design. Also, a collaborative Diary has given us the opportunity to express ourselves in a creative way... Oh, and we had to make our own comics about stories in history that our parents and grandparents told us. A really fun activity.

-As we understood, an activity was to talk about the history of your country from different points of view. Do you think it's important to know your culture and other's? I think doing this activity made me realize the importance of the processes of the democratization in different countries and knowing about social wars.

-Do you think these kind of projects should be more common? Why? I think this kind of projects are good to complement what we learn in class and develop other skills, that's why I'd like them to be more common. Nevertheless, they should be adapted to other subjects.

Nowadays, the project is in its last steps and students are in the wrapping up process.
