

Olympic Games Barcelona 1992

The Barcelona Games began on 25 July 1992 with a spectacular flame lighting the cauldron of the Olympic flame, and for many it was the best Games in history.

Catalonia appeared to the world as an open and plural place, while Spain, in general, appeared as a modern country ready for anything. Making people forget all its past history.

The celebration of this incredible event was very positive for Barcelona because it attracted the attention of many investors and new events for the city. New buildings such as the Olympic Village, parks, better telecommunication networks, new avenues... were also built.

Barcelona managed to gain a bigger place in the world and so did Spain.
