

Biblioteca Nacional de España

Escuela Popular de Instructores de Guerra de Sarriá, Barcelona - Biblioteca Nacional de España, Spain - CC BY-NC-SA.

https://www.europeana.eu/es/item/2022717/bnsearch_detalle_bdh0000226461

Este era paco un sodadonacido en Huesca sus padre era butanero y su madre panadera ,vivía en un pequeño pueblo rodeado de familiares y amigos , atmósfera ideal para la infancia de un niño , su sueño era ser futbolista , enHuesca el equipo de su ciudad, su ídolo era Luis Suarez ídolo español y el único de esta nacionalidad en ganar un balón de oro , paco era bueno jugando pero su vida dio un giro de 370 grados , la guerra civil azoto a la España unida que durante años había sido un paraíso , cambio el balón por los rifles y las porterías por personas , tuvo que ir a Barcelona a luchar en la costa contra italianos que aprovechaban la debilidad de espala para conquistarnos , no fie un gran futbolista opero si un gran militar defendió su país con garra y corazónpero a la edad de 34 añosuna bala perdida lo arrebato de la vida

This was Paco, a soda born in Huesca, his father was a butanero and his mother a baker, he lived in a small town surrounded by family and friends, an ideal atmosphere for a child's childhood, his dream was to be a footballer, in Huesca the team of his city His idol was Luis Suarez, a Spanish idol and the only one of this nationality to win a Ballon d'Or, Paco was good at playing but his life took a 370 degree turn, the civil war hit a united Spain that for years had been a paradise , he exchanged the ball for rifles and the goals for people , he had to go to Barcelona to fight on the coast against Italians who took advantage of the weakness of Spain to conquer us , he was not a great footballer but a great soldier defended his country with claw heart but at the age of 34 a stray bullet took him from life