Course Description
In this course, participants will come to understand the idea behind Flipped Classrooms and how to integrate it into their own classroom curriculum. The Flipped Classroom has been defined as a pedagogical model in which the typical lecture and homework elements of a course are reversed. Short video lectures are viewed by students at home before the class session, while in-class time is devoted to exercises, projects, or discussions. The "Flipped Classroom" is a new method of teaching which allows students to do homework in class and what is considered traditional class work at home. Often, short lectures, mostly in the form of videos or podcasts, are viewed by students before class starts. Flipped (upside down) Classrooms focus on active learning and student engagement, giving the instructor a better opportunity to deal with mixed levels, student difficulties, and differentiated learning styles during class time. By the end of this course, participants will be able to confidently implement a "Flipped Classroom" lesson and will have gained the confidence to effectively prepare a Flipped Classroom lesson plan.
