A little bit of history

The town of Espera is located in the province of Cadiz, Andalusia. It has got more than 4.000 inhabitants and it is known for its amazing Andalusian muffins or "molletes". You can also visit different monuments there: the church, Fatetar castle, etc. This year, on December 19th, Espera is celebrating the Nativity Scene. Are you going to miss it?

Enjoy Espera! A town to visit 365 days a year.

Transport

If you are in Seville, get in your car and drive for one hour. You can also use the public transport.
