

1. My T-shirt is from Ripcurl
2. It was made in Bangladesh. Its total population gets it to the top 8 most populated countries in the whole world. Cox's Bazar, a city in Bangladesh, has the longest natural beach of the world, with 125 kilometers. Most part of Bangladesh is in danger of going underwater due to climate change.
3. It was created in Bangladesh, probably by forcing poor and people in need to work for a little wage.
4. They must be paid at least 80€, because that's the minimum wage.
5. It was probably transported to Europe by plane.
6. I don't remember exactly how much I paid for it, but I'm sure it was around 10-15€.
7. I'm not surprised by those facts.
8. I don't usually buy new T-shirts, only when I begin to run out of them because they can't fit me.
9. I ask my family if someone wants it, because I have many younger cousins who can wear it.
10. We probably can start giving the T-shirts that we don't use anymore to charity for example, or put them in one of those white bins (here in Spain they are used for the gathering of toys, clothes...
