

Greek & Roman Mythology in the "Great Park"

by Sara Castrillo & Alicia Pérez
IES Ribera de Castilla

The FOUNTAIN OF FAME

Winged Fame is the messenger of Jupiter. She was born from Gaia, the Earth and lives in the middle of the world in a palace with a thousand open windows that allow all voices in the world to enter. She is awake day and night looking into everybody's issues and carrying news, no matter it's true or a lie.

The FOUNTAIN OF NEWTS

On a shell opposite Fame is Triton, half man-half fish. He is the Poseidon / Neptune and Amphitrite's son. Newts are creatures that announce the arrival of Neptune by playing their shells.

Neptune/Poseidon

Newts

NEPTUNE SCULPTURE

The sculpture of Neptune is next to a stream and almost hidden. Neptune is not bearing his trident.

Its Greek name is Poseidon and comes from potei "sir" and da "earth", the man who embraces the Earth. He is the god of the sea and freshwater.

The FOUNTAIN OF NAYADES

A swan on the center, surrounded by nymphs and newts.

The nymphs are human-like fresh water creatures. They are related to rivers and embody friendly aspects of nature like fertility.

The end