

THE MAIN SQUARE

Valladolid (Spain)

Miguel González del Río

The Plaza Mayor

is a central square in the city of Valladolid. It is very close to another famous meeting point, the Plaza Zorrilla.

From the Mid-thirteenth Century to NOW

- ▣ This square became popular when the market moved from the Square of Santa Maria.
- ▣ First it was called the Market Square and then it changed to Plaza Mayor (Main Square)
- ▣ This square is the first great square of Spain
- ▣ There are other squares that took example such as Madrid and Salamanca. Also one in South America.

· In 1950s

Nowadays

How it looks...

It has a rectangular shape, surrounded by buildings with three floors and the Town Hall of Valladolid.

In the middle of the square there is a statue, the founder of Valladolid, called Count Pedro Ansúrez.
