

Erasmus project

C.I.A.K.

From the STORYBOARD to the MOVIE

MARCH 31ST

Introduction

To communicate our emotions we need just to observe the reality of the things we need to explain, understand which emotions you feel inside yourself, to understand which profound need will show you that emotions and communicate in the right and positive way your demand.

We choose the silent movie to share the importance of the feelings in everyday life, to show how important is communicating in the right way and it's impossible not to communicate...because our body speaks on our behalf.

We draw facial expressions on some sheets that children use to show their emotions.

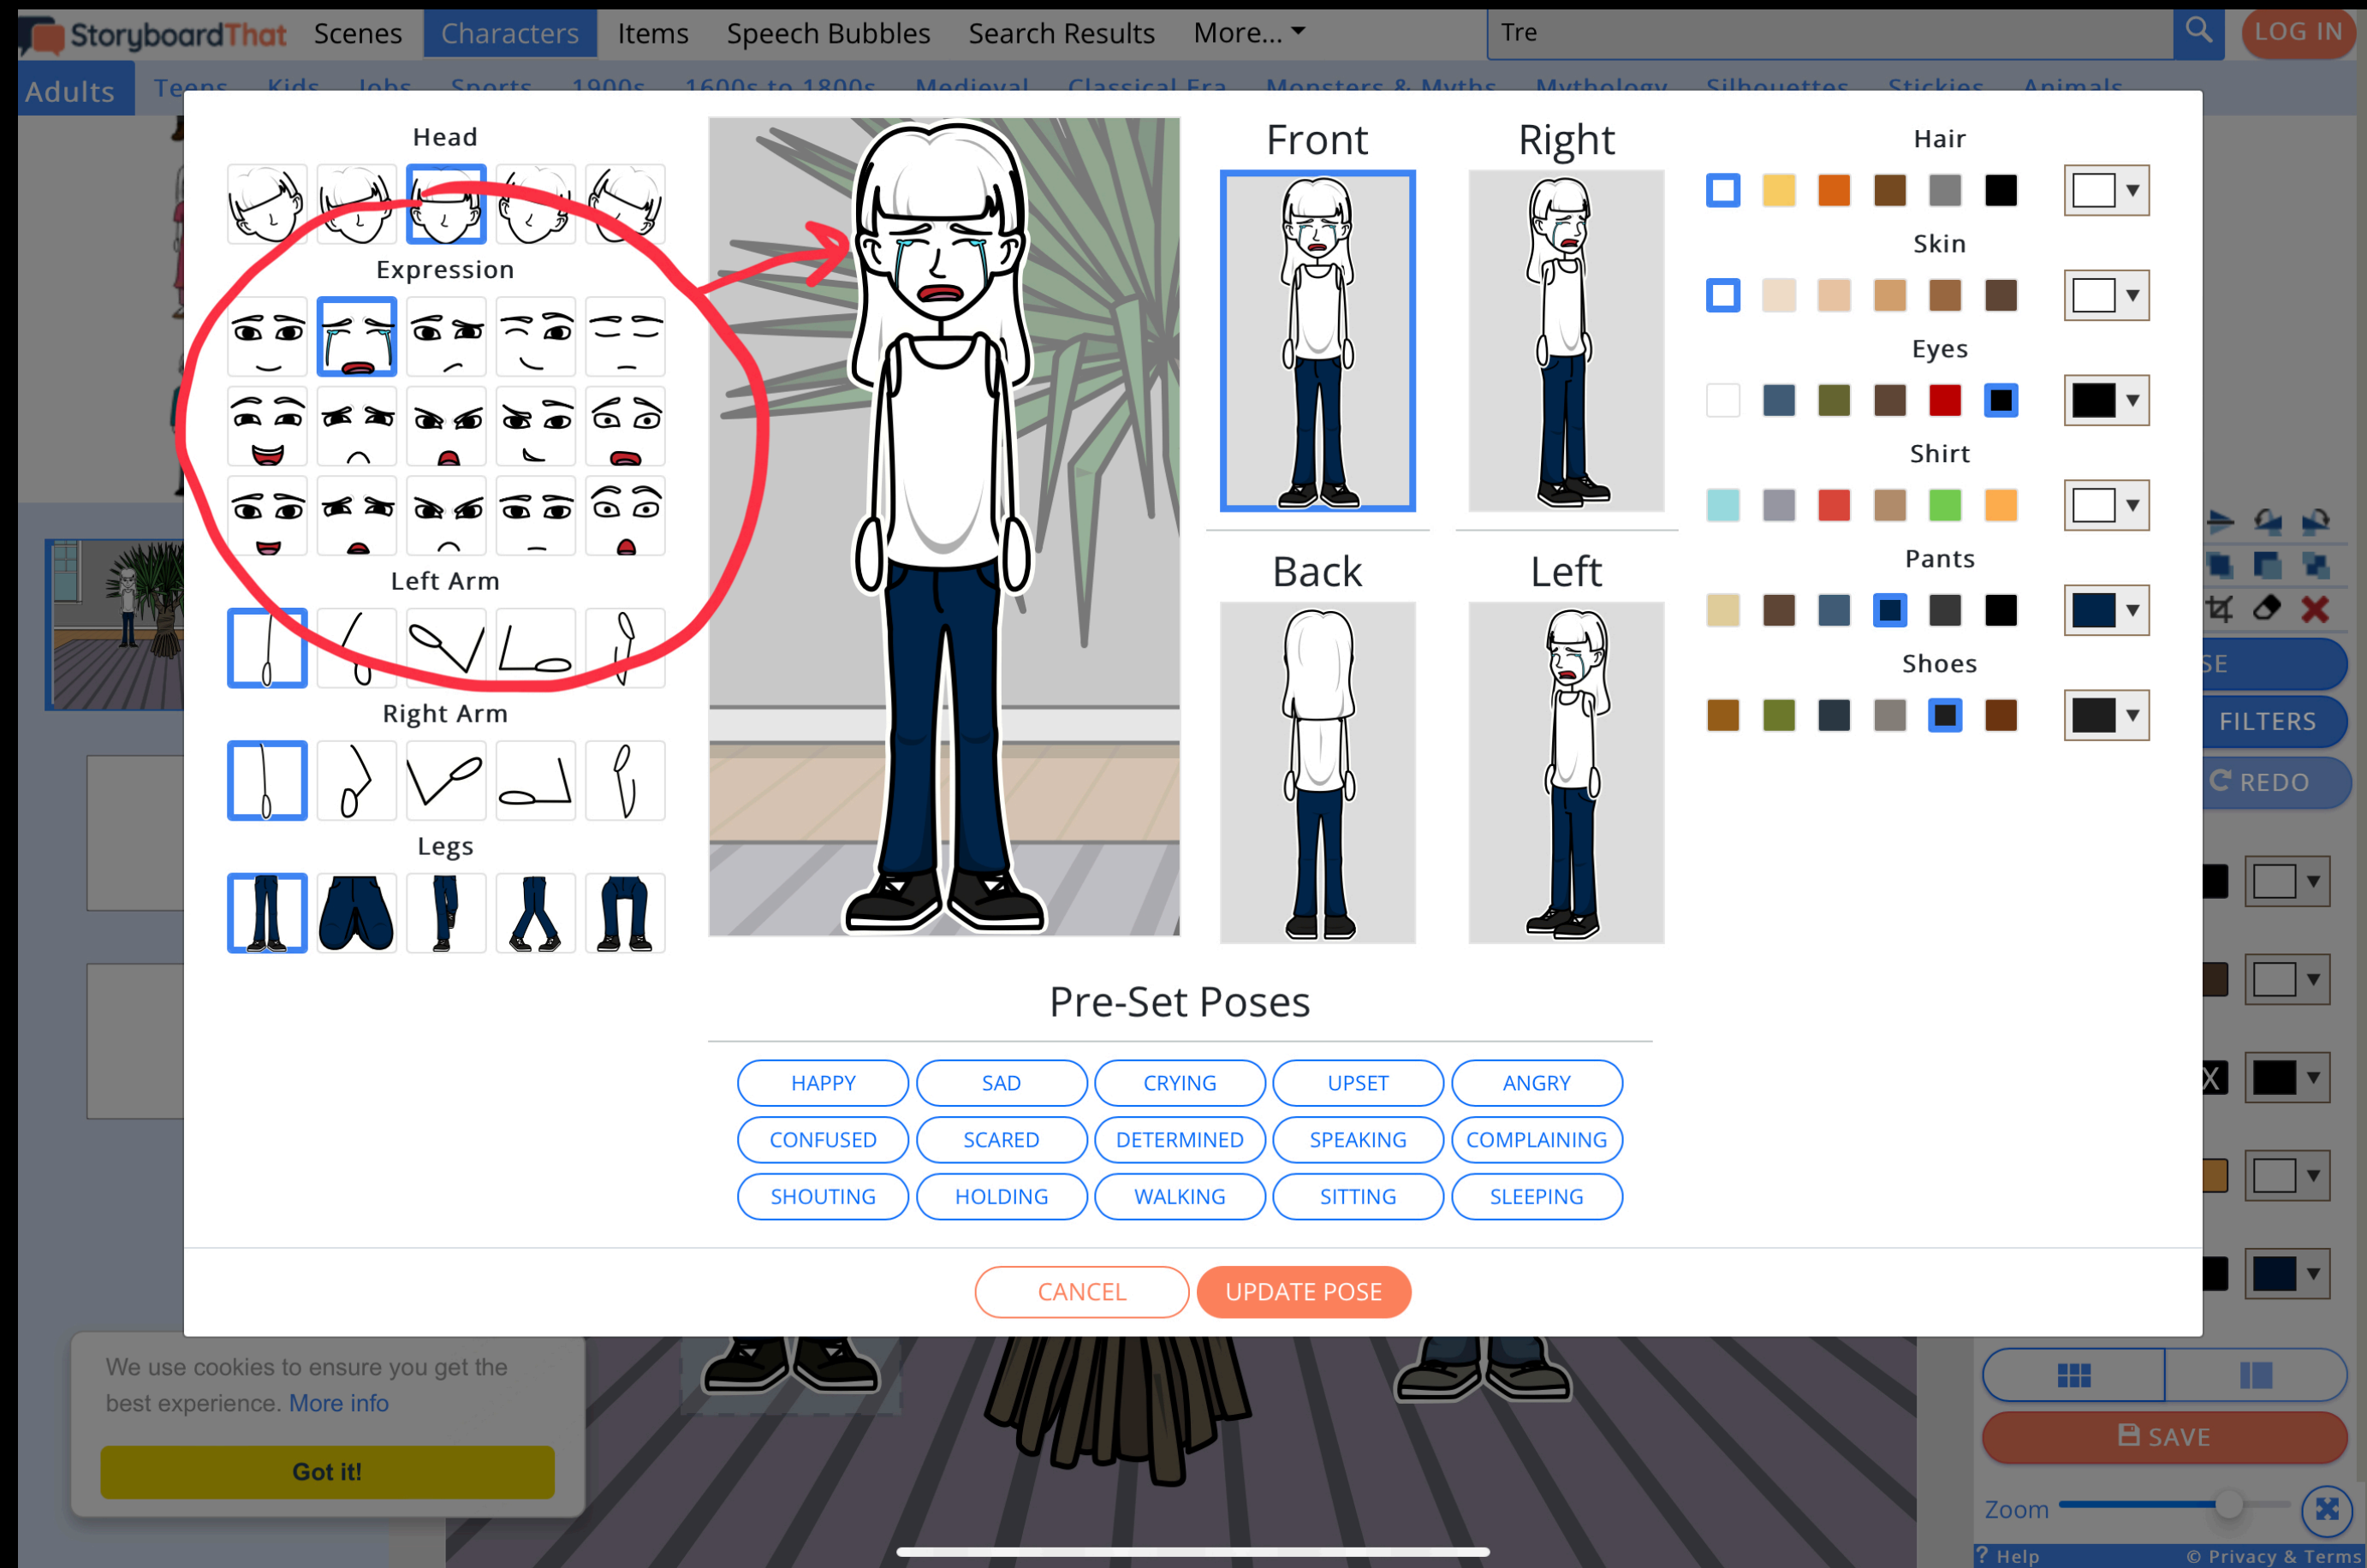

Try! You need just some training and you will see the quality of your relationship improving more and more together with the quality of your life!
