

Monday 9th May 2016

LI: To write creatively describing setting, characters
and creating atmosphere.

A normal day, no different to any other ~~day~~ there on the beach in southern England.

The sun was bright and the sky was blue. On the wide golden sand beach sat brother and sister, Mike and Lola.

"Go for a <sup>sail</sup> then?" asked Mike.

"Sure why not?" Lola replied.

Mike was a blond haired boy who had a freckled face and wore pale shorts nearly all year round. Although Lola, she had brown hair but hadn't got one freckle on her face. Lola, who loved sailing, would not wear a skirt. Always trousers. You wouldn't know they were related at all.

They had gone out to sea now.

"It's a calm day isn't it?" Quoted Mike.

"Oh yeah, it's really..." Lola spluttered. Extremely large waves were heading for them. When they went over the waves they went down but didn't seem to go back up, like they were on a rollercoaster. The more they went down, the more frightened they became. They were still going down, still going down because there were more and more waves. It was strange because it couldn't be a storm.

My editing page

⑤ round

① A old, White-haired, wrinkly old man <sup>in</sup> with a white robe and wore a gold crown emerged from the water.

20-5M ☺ What an exciting story with a tense cliffhanger at the end and lots of features of stage 5 grammar!

✚ The two areas for you to work on are

① commas - ensure they are all accurate

② spelling - simple words like 'with' could be corrected during editing time