Kuaderno (learn and grow) <https://kuaderno.com/>

Kuaderno is a web where you can find exercises, games and many other things. It is used by teachers, parents and students. Although you have to create an account to access to it, it is a web created by professionals so the quality of the resources is higher than in other pages.

It is very useful because parents and teachers can see the development of the kids. It is adapted to official exams and it is also adapted to the level of the kids. It works really good since it uses the motivation of the students to improve the process of learning.

Take the pen <https://www.takethepen.net/vocabulary/>

It is a web page with different resources and material to teach English to kids. It is divided in the four main competencies to teach this language: writing, speaking, reading and listening. Also, it has a section with some recommendations of apps to learn English and with resources about ephemeris.

It is very useful because it has a lot of resources to teach and integrate this language in their lives. It is a funny way to learn a new language and a very complete web page.

ABC Teach <https://www.abcteach.com/>

It is a web page with a lot of different resources and it has a space for each subject of Primary Education. Everything is in English but with a simple language that would not be hard for students to understand, and it also has games to review vocabulary and grammar.

It is very useful for kids since it is a funny way to learn and they can study all subjects, but it does not have a site for learning speaking and listening directly. This means that children will not have listening activities like they are used to, but they can find videos and they are all in English.

Duolingo <https://es.duolingo.com/>

It is a web page, but also an app. It is very easy and secure to use and it is perfect for kids because they learn through different levels about some topics. It includes an explanation about the level, listening, speaking, reading and principally grammar. They obtain points to get some gifts.

It is very useful because they can practise English by themselves and have a good time through a game. They can practise grammatical structures and talk in different situations. It reminds them finished levels.
