

Sustainable development, 3.grade

We have learned about the three aspects of sustainable development, and what sustainable development is. We have watched short films for children about how the three perspectives are dependent on each other.

We have chosen to focus mostly on the environmental aspect this time, and all the plastic waste in our oceans.

We started by taking a trip to a local beach and collected all the rubbish we could find. Back at the classroom we took a closer look at all the rubbish, and tried to sort it in different categories.

What could the small pieces have been originally, and how did it get in our ocean?

We continued to learn more about plastic pellets and marine littering. We have talked about Greta Thunberg and come up with ideas on what we can do to help the environment.

We made a big art piece with the rubbish we found, and it won 1. price in an art competition.
