Intercultural communication is a dialogue between different cultures.

Through intercultural communication you can speak with people of different languages and you can know some different cultures.

There are some problem with intercultural communication for example a misunderstanding between people of different countries.

Sometimes schools organise some erasmus with other countries to promote the intercultural communication Intercultural communication allows promote exchanges, encourages comparison and dialogue by stimulating the desire to be enriched with new and inspiring challenges. The encounter between different cultures is however a source of inspiration .

Intercultural communication is beautiful because if you can speak fluently and understand a different language and you feel part of other people's cultures.
