Hello everybody, we are from the Konrad-Klepping-Berufskolleg and we present you our St. Nicholas action today.

My first question is: "What is this action actually about?"

So it's actually about us students thinking about our classmates and perhaps also about our teachers and then giving them a little Christmas joy with a little chocolate Santa Claus.

And what happens with the money that is collected?

We donate it. A part of the donation goes to the street children project Shangilia. There, the money will be used to provide medical care, accommodation, schooling and education for slum children.

And in Kenya, child labour is very famous, so that the parents get more wages and no more children work.

And what was organized before the action? Well, we from the "Fair For You Shop" met and then we discussed things like details about the action, and who would do which shift and who would go through the classes.

What happens on St. Nicholas Day? Santa Claus is on December 6th every year and we go through the classes and give out a Santa Claus to everyone who gets one.

Thank you very much.

You're welcome.

So this is where all the St. Nicholas' Day people are now lying, as today is December 6th and today is St. Nicholas. They are now being distributed in the different classes, to the different pupils and we hope that every pupil who gets a Santa Claus will enjoy it.

It is a joy especially for the cocoa farmers who produced the cocoa for the fair Santa Claus, they are paid fairly, and also for the street children in Shangilia, a street children project in Kenya, Nairobi.

Then Merry Christmas.

Merry Christmas.

And once in German. My dear friends. We are currently in the pre-Christmas period and we would like to introduce you to the Christmas market in Dortmund today. The Christmas market has about 300 stands. There you can buy mulled wine, beer, food, traditional clothes, honey and wooden sculptures.

Glühwein is a wine that is made hot and mixed with special spices.

There is a colourful programme at the Christmas market. On St. Nicholas Day, 6 December, you can take pictures with St. Nicholas and talk about your Christmas wishes. For small children there is a programme of singing, handicrafts and baking cookies. The Christmas market is open from 21 November to 30 December.

We wish you all a Merry Christmas. So long.

We are presenting the Dortmund Christmas tree today. The Dortmund Christmas Tree stands every year from the end of November on Hansaplatz in the city centre and is considered the largest Christmas tree in the world. Construction begins four weeks before the Christmas market begins for the simple reason that it takes so long to set it up.

The height is 45 metres and consists of a total of 1,500 crown spruces. It is considered the largest Christmas tree in the world. The angel on the Christmas tree is four metres high.

Als nächstes stellen wir euch unseren Schülerladen vor.

Hello. I always walk by here in the break room and I wanted to know what kind of room this is.

We're the Fair For You team from the Fair For You store. We have been here since 2011 and sell environmentally friendly products like this pen. The farmers are paid fairly. There is no child labour and the prices are fair.

That sounds interesting and now I know where I will buy my school supplies soon.
