ITT Malafarina meets a Financial Institution-part 1

ITT MALAFARINA meets the BANCA DI CREDITO COOPERATIVO DI MONTEPAONE SCRL of Montepaone

Itt Malafarina meets "companies" in the context of two projects of the Erasmus + Program: "European Civic attitude through Social Entrepreneurship and Today's Young People, Tomorrow's Entrepreneurs which aim to promote the entrepreneurial spirit of students. In particular, the former finds a field of reference within the area of social enterprises

The interview with the Director of the BANCA DI CREDITO COOPERATIVO DI MONTEPAONE SCRL aims to favor the meeting between the reality of the Cooperative Credit Banks and the world of schools, with the purpose not only of promoting direct knowledge of the banking system in general, within a financial education learning module, but also the specific activity of the Cooperative Credit in this difficult period of health and economic emergency.

1. Given the aims and the mutual purpose of the cooperative bank, does the specific knowledge of the reference area, the proximity to the local clients for which the bank has first-rate information on the relative credit worthiness, favour the establishment of lasting economic-financial relations with customers/shareholders and above all foster business activity?
2. What are the changes that the current health emergency (covid-19) has imposed on the banking system during the lockdown period?
3. How much has the use of remote banking increased, given that consumption has become "forcibly" digital both for primary goods and for banking and financial products?
4. What is the role of the bank in granting benefits to companies in difficulty for credit access and liquidity support, granted by the Prime Minister's Decrees, in this covid period?
