Hi, my name is Eric. I am physics 🧪 and chemistry 🧪 teacher. My favourite activity in my job is Eratosthenes 🌐 experiment and when i do not work it is sleeping in or siesta 🛏️. I prefer heat and sun ☀️ to rain and cold. I like making selfies with rainbows 🌈 and watching TV. I am a fan of 🚗 Air crash investigation program and i have seen all the episodes of Inspector Colombo 🕵️

I think of Eratosthenes experiment as a yin activity as it is based on the shadow (responsive to light-reaction not action)

Yang. It's experimenting and acting with maths in nature.

Yin for me too, but the image looks Yang. I choose Yin as it will be better with a black background – PERBOSC_ETWINNING2

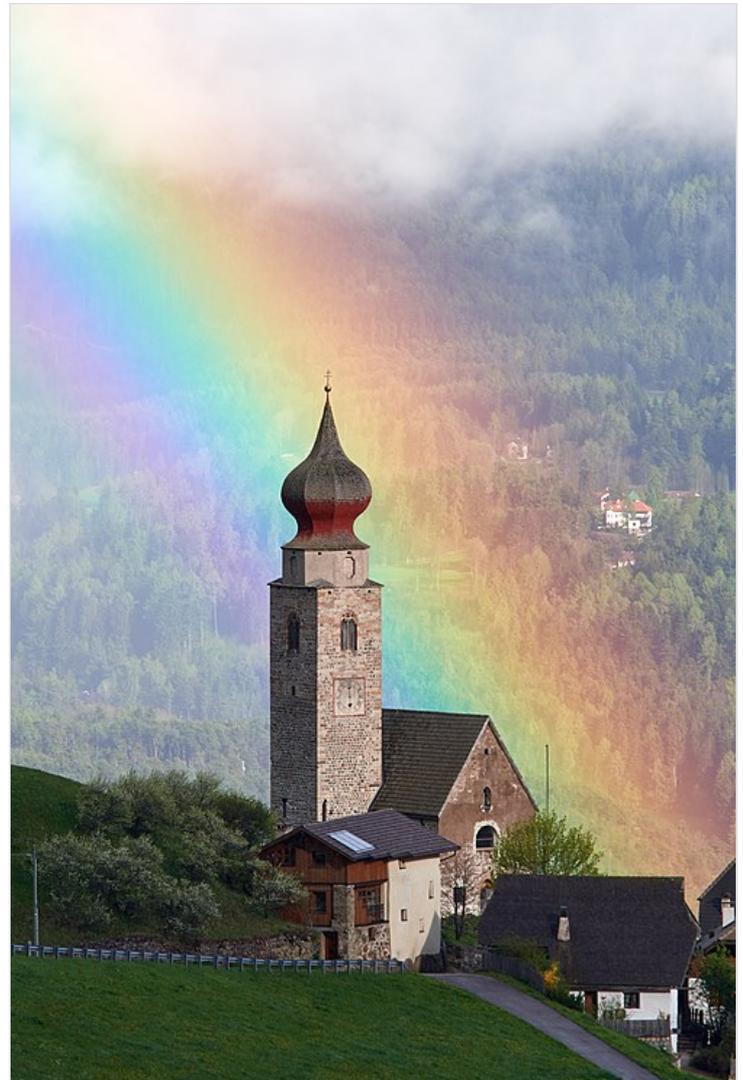

I chose Yang because there is no shadow if there is no light. Just think of cloudy days when there is nothing to measure. Plus, the sun moves in its orbit and challenges us to adapt our measuring device. – LANCELOT VOM SEE

Hello, my name is Christiane. I am an English and French teacher. In my younger years I loved doing judo, later my hobby was doing agility with my dogs. I handle a chain saw as well as a needle and a sewing machine because I love practical work and gardening. My favourite activity in my job is communication with my students. When I relax, I love watching TV, either documentaries on nature, the universe and the human being or I watch Midsummer Murders because I am a fan of the historian John Nettles.

Playmobil figurines are rather hard and playing with them seems very active to me. I'd say Yang. – LANCELOT VOM SEE

The bold word is Playmobil, not the kind of it. Playing with them is Yang but in Marlene's activity we see "collecting" not "playing and collecting is Yin – ETWINNING PETROUPOLI18

I think it is Yang because of the movement. – LANCELOT VOM SEE

Thrills (emotions created because of action or of anything else) is yin as it is receiving the impact of something.

Hello, my name is Manuela Oswald. I am a School Aid for a disabled girl for the fourth year now. I love to travel all over the world with my family. Doing Sports is also important for me. As a child I did skiing and Track and Fields, both in competition. Now I am only doing Taekwondo just for fun and to train children. I read and do puzzles for relaxation. The most Important thing for me is to spend as much time as possible with my two children and my husband.
