SCENARIO 1 Worksheet - Creative writing 1.5 Name: …… Date: ……..

The bridges that one finds scattered in the mountainous mass of Greece (apart from their symbolic character) constitute, in particular, a form of human intervention that operates at a practical level, signaling the opening of new opportunities, product exchange and communication through trade and developing links and contacts between neighboring communities.

The stone bridges of Epirus are standing in the middle of the rivers and telling the story of man's will to tame the momentum of nature and to come in contact, communicate and co-operate with the rest ones .... to invest in the future. Each one of them linked to the history of the place and its people echoes and reflects the images, experiences and needs of another era.

Today, at the time of the crisis, they are unprotected in the momentum of nature, abandonment and destruction ... with incalculable economic consequences (tourism, local traffic and communication ...).

Cover the subject as an analyst journalist and prepare an article on the pages of an economic newspaper.
