

Escultura de mármol de piedra - Piedra tallada- La escultura del Beso de la Muerte

Made by Florencio Antonio Barrios Nevado and Abraham Esayag Ruas

index

1. geographic area
2. craft characteristics
3. the technique
4. used materials
5. history
6. youtube videos
7. gallery

1. geographic area

This craft is located in Spain, more specifically in the province of Cataliña in the city of Barcelona

2. craft characteristics

the kiss of death statue is a symbol of sadness.

this statue is formed by a human being and the figure symbolizing death giving him a kiss death is symbolized as a skeleton and wings characterizing itself as a fallen angel

this statue is made of marble

3. the technique

The technique used is the stone sculpture technique

Sculpting consists of removing particles from the already roughing block until obtaining the intended figure. To mold is to give a paste the desired shape by adding or removing portions of dough.

4. used materials

In this sculpture the marble and utensils for the molding and refining of the sculpture such as hammer and chisel are used

5. history

This sculpture is placed in a cemetery in Barcelona as commissioned by someone, it is believed that the author is Jaume Barba but some people believe that he could not be the one who did it and that it was Joan Fontbernat because jaume beard was 70 years old

6. youtube media

7. gallery

