

“Five envelopes”: An interactive fairy-tale

narrated by Despina Gemelou

at the Museum of History and Science (1st Junior High School of Chios, Greece)

Once upon a time, there was a beautiful Chian princess. A jealous witch cast a spell on her, to be broken only by answering the following riddle:

“It heals every wound, it always triumphs

It gives strength and touches every heart. What is it?”

A brave prince sets out on a quest to solve the riddle. First, he helps a Sleepy Fairy count her coins and she gives him a sealed envelope, asking him not to open it until he gets back home.

Next, the Prince helps the Pebble King find his favourite pebble and receives another envelope.

The Prince’s next stop is at the house of an old woman. She has lost the magic key that opens ever lock on earth. The prince helps her find it and gets the third envelope.

His fourth quest leads him to the place of the toothless dinosaur. The Prince helps the dinosaur find his tooth and gets the fourth envelope as a reward.

Finally, at the place of the bare-legged elf, the prince gets the fifth envelope but no answer to the riddle...

Disappointed, he returns to his island where he opens the envelopes. Each of them contains a letter. He arranges the letters and forms the word “AGAPI” (which means LOVE in Greek)

Now the riddle is solved and the spell is broken

Because...

LOVE heals every wound and always triumphs

LOVE gives strength and touches every heart.

And they all lived happily ever after.
