THE POLLUTION IN CAMPANIA

THE MOST SERIOUS POLLUTION PROBLEMS IN CAMPANIA

Where I live in Italy and exactly in Campania there are different types of pollution:

Water Pollution that consists in illegal waste disposal underground provoking the pollution of aquifers, or when plastic, paper, glass waste are thrown into the sea.

Air Pollution that consists of the emission of gases from factories, cars, airplanes or the waste that is burned, for this reason Campania is called «Earth of fire»

Light Pollution is the direct or indirect introduction of artificial light into the environment and is one of the most widespread forms of environmental alteration, which makes it difficult to see the stars in the sky.

Noise Pollution is unwanted or excessive sound that can have negative effects on human health and the quality of the surrounding environment. Noise pollution is often generated inside industrial plants, but is also produced by busy roads, railways, airports and construction activities.
