

Christmas traditions in Spain

Burrito Sabanero is a song that originated in Venezuela but it soon became a Spanish favourite too. El tamborilero is one of Spain's most popular carols.

One of Spain's most odd traditions is eating twelve grapes at the stroke of midnight on New Year's Eve. The idea is to eat 12 grapes at midnight. It is said to give you good luck for the rest of the year.

Traditional foods that Spanish people eat at Christmas are:

- Galets soup.
- Entremeses with cheese and meats.
- Polvorones and Mantecados.
- Turròn.
- Roscón de Reyes.
- Cava.

Did you know Christmas trees are usually fir trees in the north of Spain and pine trees in the south but in England, Christmas trees are pine trees? They usually decorate their trees in mid-December. The most important Christmas decoration is the Nativity!
