Reasons why to be a volunteer

“I work like a volunteer, because i care about a people, which had less luck in life than me.”

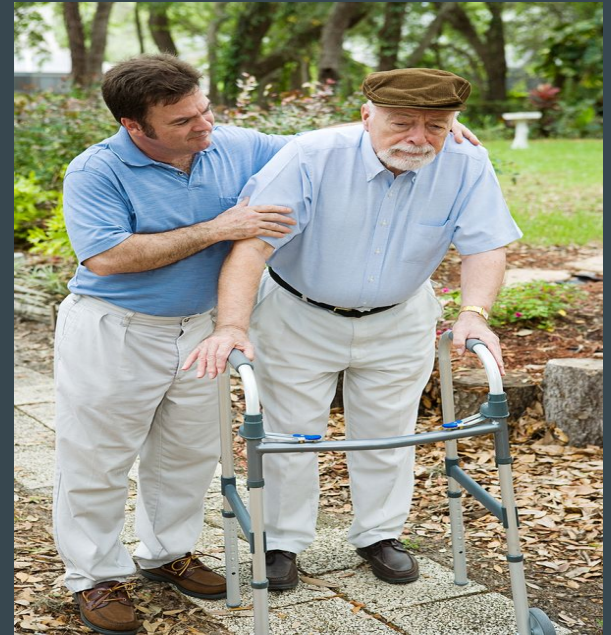

Main reasons:

- Helping people in tough life situations
- Travelling for cheap
- Better feelings
- Making new friends

Reasons why to be a volunteer

- Sometimes people feel guilty, so they Start doing things for better karma
- People have compassion for disabled people
- Disabled people help too, because they know how hard it is to be disabled

Story of Klara

She came to a numerous Foster Family to help Mirka with her feelings and create some bonds and relationships

Toto neukazujte, příběh najdete Zde: <http://www.amalthea.cz/pribehy-dobrovolniku/> Je to povykládejte.

Just when I expressed an interest in volunteering and in the Amalthea(Volunteering Company) looking for someone who would become a friend for 14 years Mirka in numerous foster family. In the beginning I was afraid that I was a bit "forced" in the family and wondered how it all would work. Mirka, but she knew from workers that volunteers were sometimes commuting to families and also looked forward to someone who would only devote to her. I know that for some children who have not grown up in the family from the beginning, it is difficult to create long-term relationships at a later age.

Therefore, it was my task with Mirka to share her experiences, worries, and the joys of ordinary days. Now it will be a little over a year since I arrive at Mirka's family. Time that we spent together is not difficult now. We go for a walk, paint our nails, iron our hair, read magazines and talk. In short, all those girly things.
