Many thanks to the hosts! 😊
The inconvenience was to listen for too long without a break for everyone
When the lecturer does not speak English, to translate the presentation, at least!
Piuttosto meno attività ma con più tempo da dedicare al lavoro in gruppo

The talk at the university should have been more in depth.

Not enough work in group with peers from european country

A lot of waste time that we could have used to work

Some aspects of the mobility could be worked by the teachers before to arrive to the mobility

More activities in Groups

So long classes and the break was too late

No. It has been a wonderful and useful experience and I would like to thank everyone involved in organising the mobility and introducing me to the fabulous city of Cordoba.

More practical workshops between different countries and more exchanges on practices in each country.

Can't wait to meet everyone again

More practical workshops with the other teachers

I think that the group was too much numerous, and a suggestion: it's better to form working groups putting together teachers coming from different schools

Discuss in depth the topics

Not really!

The lectures were too many one after the other without any interaction and think about how to present to an international audience

Stabilire a priori gli aspetti metodologici

I'd prefer to deal with fewer topics but more in depth

Thanks to this experience I knew something new about how some matters are considered in other countries. I hope next time I could learn something new

The first day at the university had classes from 9-3, it was a lot to take in without a break

The seminars are like university lesson and I think that can be more useful something less formal but with more involvement

Probably we needed more time for the work groups for making the outputs.

comparative dialogues between countries are needed

More group work
