

1. do not write in CAPITAL letters: on the web, by agreement, it is equivalent to SCREAMING
2. Do not publish personal information and sensitive data of other users.
3. Don't be too hard on those who make mistakes: it's rude to point this out and then there are ways and ways ...
4. Don't post photos that might embarrass another user and first ask for consent before tagging others on photos or videos .
5. Write correctly: precisely because everything you write on the web is in the public domain, pay attention not only to the contents, but to spelling and punctuation. It is a good habit to reread a text or message at least three times before
