Teach and Learn - new possibilities for teachers and learners

Summary of C1 Transnational teacher training in Denmark, 26.11. 2017-02.12.17

Having arrived in Tarms we all got a warm welcome at Solgården Efterskolen on Monday.

Then all participants came together in the conference room to discuss the schedule and conditions of our future meetings, especially the upcoming C2-Meeting in Faro. We could clear up some appointments. We also agreed on the external conditions as to the arrangement of the Erasmus Day and fixed the tasks of the different groups in our project. Everyone was enthusiastically looking forward to being part of this project for the next two years.

After our official schedule we also had time to share experiences concerning the different educational systems, school types, values of our youth and the role of the teachers.

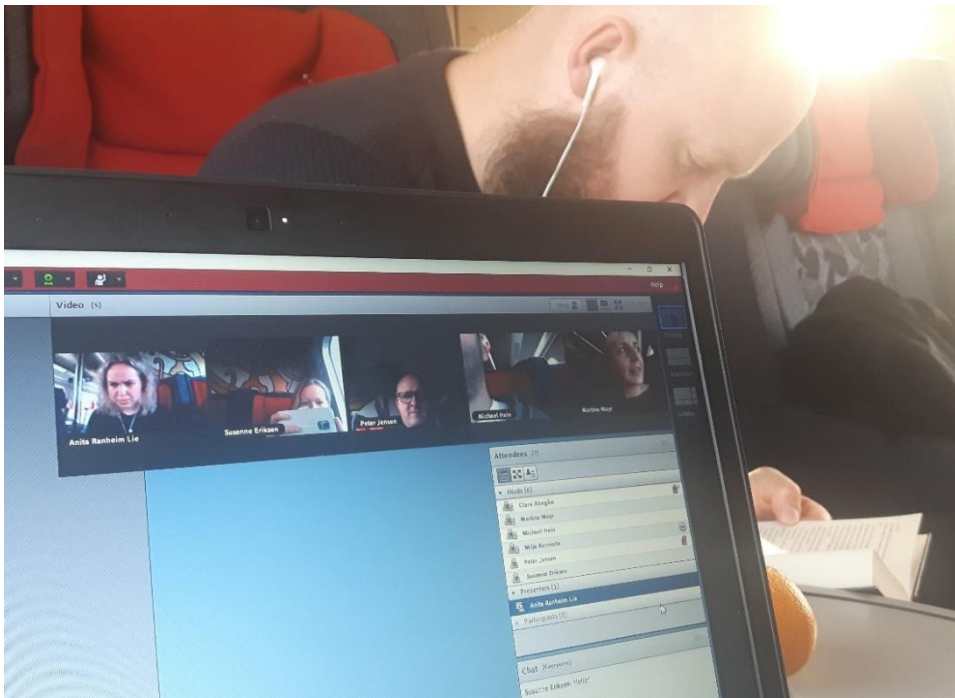

In order to involve the pupils of Solgarden Efterskolen as well and to enhance their curiosity, every country presented their region, school and its characteristics.

Apart from our hard work at school, we also had time to explore the beautiful west coast of Denmark. And experienced Danish hospitality during a beautiful stay at our hosts' summer house. We got to know each other better and had interesting discussions and talks.

We took advantage of our trip to Copenhagen not only to enjoy the beautiful views on Sealand and the Storebelt bridge but also to discover the great opportunities offered by etwinning.

In Copenhagen we had the fantastic opportunity to meet Karsten Hjorth Petersen, the famous Danish pedagogue, who conducted a workshop for us. In a lecture about norms and values and the forms of approaching pupils, he gave us very important inspiration and impulses for the subsequent discussions about difficult case examples from our daily routine as a teacher. The different national groups talked about possibilities to disseminate this recently acquired knowledge in their schools. Everyone agreed on this day being an extraordinarily valuable experience, which will influence the daily interactions with our students.

Lecture and discussion

After working hard during the day, we enjoyed visiting Tivoli in the evening and spending time together. We also discovered the beautiful Danish capital Copenhagen with its unique historic sights and modern architecture.

Nyhavn

We want to thank our Danish hosts for this interesting, laborious, adventurous and motivating time in Denmark.
